

Medical Support for the Group

The MDS UK Patient Support Group is affiliated with the UK MDS Forum, the foremost UK professional organisation focused upon MDS research, providing information and advice on the status and progress with MDS treatment in the UK.

The MDS UK Patient Support Group is also supported by major pharmaceutical companies.

The MDS UK Patient Support Group is affiliated with the MDS Foundation Inc., a multidisciplinary international organisation dedicated to sharing and improving MDS information and awareness between patients, globally.

MDS UK Patient Support Group

- To provide a networking service through which those newly diagnosed with MDS may share their experience with fellow sufferers
- To organise regional and national patient meetings throughout the year, with specialist speakers
- To distribute information and raise awareness of MDS to patients, carers and health care professionals across the UK
- To provide access to a list of UK consultants, specialising in MDS
- To develop and maintain a website, providing information on MDS. Also direction to other relevant sites.

What is MDS?

MDS (Myelodysplastic Syndrome) describes a malfunction of the bone marrow in producing the correct quantity and quality of blood cells.

Cells that can be affected:

- Red cells - which carry oxygen to organs and tissues in the body
- White cells - which collectively fight against infection
- Platelets - which prevent us from bruising and bleeding.

One or more of these can be affected by MDS. Many people, newly diagnosed with MDS, have not heard of this disorder before. Some, diagnosed early, do not even feel unwell.

MDS UK Patient Support Group

MDS is a rare disease. At first the diagnosis can come as a shock, with anxiety and a feeling of isolation.

The MDS Patient Support Group:

- Provides continuous support to MDS patients and their carers
- Offers a dedicated Patient Liaison service 5 days/week
- Advances public education in all aspects of MDS in the UK, through publications and the internet
- Promotes and supports scientific research into the treatment and care of MDS patients
- Representing MDS patients needs and rights nationally and at governmental level.

The Group provides a vehicle for networking between patients and carers.
